—OF THE—

TOWN OF DANVILLE, N. H.

FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1882.

THE ANNUAL REPORT
—OF THE—
Superintending School Committee.

For the year ending March 1, 1882

—O—
DISTRICT NO. 1.

BAILEY SARGENT, Prudential Committee.

There have been twenty-five and one-half weeks of school, embraced in three terms. Mrs. Sylvia H. Hooke of Fremont, was the teacher during the first term. By reason of illness she was obliged to close her term of service, at the end of four and one-half weeks. Had she been able to teach the full year, she would doubtless have won the hearty approval of her patrons.

Miss Cora E. Cooke, of Exeter, taught the two following terms of eight and thirteen weeks respectively. Fortunate in her methods, as well as in the aptitude of her pupils, her success was such as to deserve high commendation. At the final examination, the singing of the school gave a very pleasing evidence of the teacher's work in cultivating their musical capability.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

HERBERT PAGE, Prudential Committee

There have been two terms each of seven weeks, taught by Miss Katie Maley of Hampstead. She was without previous experience in teaching, but came to her task with a generous mental furnishing, and adopted skillful methods in imparting instruction. Your committee was much gratified by the success of her work.

---

DISTRICT NO. 3.

CHARLES P. GRIFFIN, Prudential Committee.

The school year has embraced twenty-four and three-tenths weeks. The teacher was Miss Susie M. Clifford of this town. Her work has been very profitable to her pupils. Previous experience prepared her to appear altogether at home in the discharge of her important duties. Sympathetic, active and affectionate, therefore winning the love of the dutiful scholars, she could not fail to profit them.

There are elements in this school which very much increase the burdens of the teacher especially in the matter of government. There is need that parental authority should follow the child to the school-room, and aid in securing such subordination as the best success of the school demands.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

RANSOM F. TOWLE, Prudential Committee.

The two terms of seven and nine weeks, were taught by Miss Emma M. Marshall of Kingston. This teacher realized her usual good success, which is high commendation. Pleasant and winsome, yet firm and faithful, her work was specially satisfactory.

Your committee desires to urge upon all parents the need to visit the schools, not only at the closing examinations, but during the progress of the terms. If matters go on well, it will be a very grateful thing, to witness the excellent work of both teacher and pupils, as well as to speak encouraging words of deserved commendation.

On the contrary, if there exist serious hindrances to the profit of the school, then timely correctives may be supplied. Sometimes it would be found, much to the surprise and mortification of the parent, that the improper conduct of his own children is interposing serious hindrances to the successful work of the school-room. Such an evil might thereupon at once be corrected. Every parent should by some means possess positive knowledge of the deportment of his children, taking due care that it be right and praiseworthy.

Respectfully submitted.

J. A. LOWELL,

Superintending School Committee.
